The 1935 Tournament was the only time an elimination type tournament was used to decide the World Championships. The finals were shot at 50 meters as a compromise for the long and short ranges shot in the preliminary rounds.

The results were devastating, the Belgium Archers who were undoubtedly masters at the short ranges took the first 3 places. Czechoslovakia's Lenecek and Dvoracek had led the preliminary rounds by over 150 points and could do no better than 7th and 4th places respectively in the shoot off.

Needless to say this caused considerable controversy. Lenecek was given a special award for High Total score, and the elimination type tournament was never used again.
